

MJ41

MICHAEL JORDAN

In 1995-96, Jordan showed the league that a short stint playing baseball took nothing away from his basketball skills. In his first full season back, the Bulls ripped off an NBA-record 72 regular-season wins and captured their first of three straight NBA championships. The Chicago guard earned his fourth league MVP trophy while also being named Most Valuable Player of the All-Star Game.

Upper Deck, designs and the card hologram are TMs or Reg. TMs of The Upper Deck Company, LLC. ©2005 The Upper Deck Company. All rights reserved. Printed in the U.S.A. ©2005 NBA Properties, Inc.

